The screenshot shows the GitHub 'Create project' modal for a user named @mrcho593. The modal is titled 'Create project' and has a 'Close' button in the top right corner. On the left, there's a sidebar with 'Project templates' and 'From your organization' sections. Under 'Project templates', the 'Featured' tab is selected, showing a list of templates: 'Team planning', 'Kanban', 'Feature release', and 'Bug tracker'. The 'Kanban' template is highlighted with a red box and a red arrow pointing to it. The 'Team planning' template is also visible. The main area of the modal displays a preview of the selected 'Kanban' template, showing a Kanban board with columns for 'To do', 'In progress', and 'Done'. A notification banner on the right side of the modal states: 'New timestamp fields available. You can now add Created, Closed, and Updated timestamp fields to your project to track when issues and pull requests were created, closed, or last updated.' with 'Got it' and 'Dismiss' buttons.

The screenshot shows a web browser window displaying the GitHub Projects page for a project named 'team-project-sprint' under the organization 'goodjob-tutorial'. The browser's address bar shows the URL 'github.com/orgs/goodjob-tutorial/projects/2'. The page header includes the GitHub logo, the organization name, and the project name. A search bar is visible with the placeholder text 'Type / to search'. Below the header, there are tabs for 'Backlog', 'Priority board', 'Team items', 'Roadmap', 'My items', and 'New view'. The 'Backlog' tab is currently selected. A search bar with the placeholder 'Filter by keyword or by field' and a 'View' button are also present. The main content area displays a Kanban board with three columns: 'Todo' (0 items), 'In progress' (0 / 3 items), and 'Done' (0 items). Each column has a description: 'This is ready to be picked up' for 'Todo', 'This is actively being worked on' for 'In progress', and 'This has been completed' for 'Done'. The 'In progress' column also shows an 'Estimate: 0' label. A '+ ' button is visible to the right of the 'Done' column.
